THE DAILY and WEEKLY HERALD has more than double the circulation of any other paper published in Southern California. Business men recognize it accordingly as the best advertising medium South of San Francisco.

SUNDAY, FEB. 13, 1876.

The Postmaster.

Notwithstanding the accumulated mails of four days came in night before last, our Postoffice was open on time yesterday morning. The little article on this subject in yesterday's HERALD was not put in by an unkind spirit. Mr. BENT has no better friend than our reporter who wrote it. When reporters are hard up for an item they will sometimes note down things that had better be let alone. We presume there is no Postmaster in the United States who has less complaint against him.

Hospital Physician.

We take pleasure in correcting an error into which we were led by wrong information in regard to Dr. Brooke and the Supervisors. The salary of Dr. Brooke has not been raised as we were informed. The Doctor's time of service will end in April next, and the Supervisors have passed an ordinance that the hospital physician shall receive $1,000 per annum, the ordinance to take effect from and after April next. We commend the action of the Supervisors and ask pardon of Dr. Brooke, and in justice to the Doctor, we will further state we have been informed from a reliable source that he never complained to the Supervisors nor any one else, that his salary was too low or that he wanted it raised, but has to the best of his ability discharged all the duties of his position as though he was getting $150 per month. This sets the Doctor right on the record.

The San Francisco Chronicle.

The Chronicle is preparing for war. Having laid in a bountiful supply of munitions and provisions to carry it through the bloody campaign, it is now engaged in the erection of sand banks and bomb proofs, behind which he hopes to shelter his empty head from the missiles of his adversaries. In the erection of these fortifications, he has given us an idea of the quarter from whence he expects the strongest assault. It says:

To illustrate, in speaking of rebels, and in denouncing their political opinions, it not unfrequently occurs that the word "South" and the expression "people of the South" is used when the intention is not to throw any stigma upon the locality, or to make any unkind comment upon the people of that section.

Here is a sand bank behind which he can hide when he provokes a fire from the South, which is likely to demolish him. His object is to exhort the dead-issues of the war, and flaunt the bloody shirt at the South, until he goads them into madness, and then reminds them that he "means no kindly comment upon the people of that section." Again he says:

So when we speak of Southern rebels, we intend to keep distinctly in mind that we are discussing a political question, and not a personal one.

Here he is guarding against probabilities. Some personal rebel may take offense at what he is going to say, and conclude to "put a head on him." In such case he can remind the rebel that his remarks were political and not personal. He concludes his long article thus:

When hereafter we discuss the political questions growing out of the late unpleasantness, let our readers bear in mind that we do not mean to make an unfeeling attack upon the people within geographical boundaries. While the war waged in miniature in California to preserve the peace of the State, and general good feeling there, the Legislature of 1872, he exhorted the House on the reduction of fares and freights almost daily, and for three or four hours at a sitting. He was one of the leaders of the anti-subsidy, anti-monopoly movement, upon which tidal wave he was wafted to Washington. In fact, he was everywhere regarded a dangerous bull with hay on his horns. The members of the last Congress who breathlessly held the blower of the West unloading bills annihilating the Central Pacific, naturally wonder why is all this, and whether the railroad has made concessions to the public or to Mr. Luttrell. Probably Mr. Luttrell can explain this to his anti-monopoly constituency. He is the only old Democratic member from the Pacific coast, and probably for this sudden change he would have gotten the chairmanship of the Committee on Naval Affairs, for which he was so anxious and labored so industriously. And this is the reason why the Pacific coast was slighted in the matter of Chairman. Notwithstanding this disappointed ambition Mr. Luttrell has declared war against the Navy in general, and the Mare Island portion of it in particular. Let preparations be made for the killed and wounded, and the non-combatants be sent to the rear.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

[Special Correspondence of the HERALD.]

NUMBER I.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1st, 1876.

Washington resembles Sacramento in its high prices and bad whisky. Like all capital cities it has no commerce or legitimate traffic to sustain it, and consequently must prey upon visiting strangers and the traveling public. The assembling of Congress is looked forward to with great anxiety, and they set their houses in order and elevate prices accordingly. In one session they make enough to last them through the summer months until the next, and they are looked forward to with that degree of jubilance that a small boy exercises on the near approach of Christmas. It is their harvest time, and they leave no greenback unturned. In view of the prevailing high tariffs Congressmen naturally object to the proposed reduction of salary from $5,000 to $3,000 a year, with no mileage or franking prerogative. After a seven or eight months' session there is not much if that $5,000 left, especially if the member be a married man, with a large family. Some members who have left their wives at home find it even more expensive than otherwise. It costs money to sustain dignity, and a Congressman is nothing if not dignified. There are other and larger fields for economic legislation than the reduction of members' salaries—such as the army, navy, Indian rations, crooked whisky barrels, etc., etc.

OUR "EFFICIENT ARMY."

Our standing army consists of 22,000 rank and file, and costs the people about $20,000,000 a year. There are 6,500 line officers, who cost $3,212,190. The 614 staff officers and generals cost $3,571,987 a year. This sum occupies two hundred and nine regiments, barracks. With reduction of the enlisted men to 15,000, the retiring of a few hundred line officers, who are having the benefit of our principal cities, and a few bloated Brigadiers, the annual expenses could be reduced by at least $5,000,000.

OPENING OF THE CAMPAIGN.

The National Democratic Executive Committee held a meeting the other evening. Hon. Augustus Schell, of New York, President. Senator Randall, of New Jersey, was chosen Vice-Chairman. Congressman Barnard, of Connecticut, Treasurer, and Banks, of Mississippi, resident Secretary. On motion of Senator Randolph it was resolved to organize early and at once begin the campaign of 1876.

"BLOODY SHIRT" CONVENTION.

A futile effort was made last week by a few Southern carpet-baggers and the vagrant negroes of this city to get up a "bloody shirt" convention, or mass-meeting, to assist Senator Morton in his war on Mississippi, and also to increase Pinchbeck's chances for the vacant seat in the Senate for Louisiana. But it was postponed either on account of the good weather, or else to afford Morton sufficient time to get another batch of "Southern outrages," manufactured to order, and a fresh cargo of bloody shirts.

A PARABLE—WITH A MORAL.

Meek and lowly ministers tell us that there are several ways for whipping our Satanic friend around a stump; other authority informs us that there are more ways for killing a dog than choking him with tainted butter; and he who attempts to carry water on both shoulders will surely step over thereby taking the starch out of his own shirt collar. Considerable comment is made among the anti-slavery members as to the wisdom of conversion of Representative Luttrell to the interests of the Central Pacific. Last session he was the great champion of the people against this "bloody monopoly." In the California Legislature of 1872, he exhorted the House on the reduction of fares and freights almost daily, and for three or four hours at a sitting. He was one of the leaders of the anti-slavery, anti-monopoly movement, upon which tidal wave he was wafted to Washington. In fact, he was everywhere regarded a dangerous bull with hay on his horns. The members of the last Congress who breathlessly held the blower of the West unloading bills annihilating the Central Pacific, naturally wonder why is all this, and whether the railroad has made concessions to the public or to Mr. Luttrell. Probably Mr. Luttrell can explain this to his anti-monopoly constituency. He is the only old Democratic member from the Pacific coast, and probably for this sudden change he would have gotten the chairmanship of the Committee on Naval Affairs, for which he was so anxious and labored so industriously. And this is the reason why the Pacific coast was slighted in the matter of Chairman. Notwithstanding this disappointed ambition Mr. Luttrell has declared war against the Navy in general, and the Mare Island portion of it in particular. Let preparations be made for the killed and wounded, and the non-combatants be sent to the rear.

AFTER THE SAINTS.

A bill is pending before the Senate excluding Utah polygamists from jury duty in trials where a brother Mormon is a party, or the interests of the Mormon Church are involved. Under the present mode of selecting jurors in that Territory, it is so arranged that the panel is about equally composed of Mormon and Gentile, and in cases as above mentioned, the verdict is undeniably a "hung jury." An orthodox Mormon denies the right of any power on earth save the Mormon Priesthood to administer an oath. Consequently, the oaths they take in Gentile courts are not considered as binding on the conscience, when in conflict with the teachings of the church of Zion. Were polygamists excluded from service on grand and petit juries, the speedy indictment and conviction of these saintly transgressors against the laws of man and of morality would, it seems, be the most effective manner of suppressing it ultimately. As there is no religion connected with polygamy, such a disqualification is clearly constitutional.

There is some difference between the "free exercise of religious liberty" and the freedom of conscientious objection to military service. Living under the law, they are practically under its ban, and their well known bias in favor of their church, and eternal hatred to the Gentile world, is of itself sufficient to exclude them from jury service in such cases, just the same as an individual is challenged for bias.

The Band of Hope will meet to-day at three o'clock p.m. sharp, at Good Templars' Hall. All are cordially invited to attend.

[FROM THE SPECIAL REPORTER OF THE DAILY HERALD.]

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12th.—The Grocers Protective Union meet next week to take some action in regard to the silver coin question. Individually they have so far agreed to pay for their goods to wholesalers in silver, which the latter now refuse to accept except at a discount.

During the past week 91 deaths occurred—57 males and 34 females.

L. L. Treadwell, senior partner of the firm of Treadwell & Co., died in this city this morning.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 12th.—The Assembly met at 10 A. M. in the Briceland, from the Committee on Hospitals, made a report favoring the erection of additional buildings to accommodate the patients of the Stockton Insane Asylum. He deprecated the expense to which the State was laid in the erection of the Napa Asylum, and suggested to the House, as the sense of the Committee, that if any further buildings were to be erected, that they be built in a plain and substantial manner and not in the extravagance style of the Napa Asylum. Coffey, from the San Francisco delegation, asked for further time in which to examine the books of certain Railroad Companies in San Francisco.

McConnell presented a minority report from the Committee on Federal Relations on the Assembly joint resolution relative to making Federal currency receivable at par for all Custom dues. He advanced as his reasons for the opposition of the Executive mansion, that they be admitted, waiving objections by mutual consent of counsel. The afternoon session will be occupied in arguments upon the admission of dispatches to and from Gen. Babcock, Acting Commissioner Douglas, Deputy Commissioner H. C. Rogers and all the employees of the Executive mansion are excused as witnesses. Judge Dillon withdrew his permission for juries to read the newspapers and the court took a recess until 3 o'clock.

1st. That the chief cause of the depreciation of legal tenders from their first issuance to the present day, lay in the discredit given them by the Government which, while compelling the citizen to take them in payment of all debts due him, refused to receive them in satisfaction of all debts owing to itself.

2d. That he believed that the restoration of a safe and sound metallic currency can be more easily attained by enhancing the value of paper currency than by any other means, thereby hastening the day for the resumption of specie payments. The government could easily procure the gold coin necessary for its wants, and justice requires that it should occupy no higher or better position in reference to its own paper than the people do.

The bill providing for calling a constitutional convention was postponed until next Thursday.

The special order repealing the compulsory education law, after considerable discussion by Gen. McConnell and Mr. McKenna, the leader of the Republican party in the House, was then ordered that, whereas, the said F. P. F. Temple, as such Treasurer elect, has given and executed the bond required hereinbefore in this order, which bond has been duly approved, that the citation heretofore issued be discharged, and that said F. P. F. Temple be hence dismissed without delay.

H. K. S. O'MELVENY, County Judge, Los Angeles, Feb. 12th.

Gen. Babcock thought there would be strong political pressure brought to bear on the President and he would be obliged to rescind the order thus bearing direct odium upon Douglass. The results indicated the defendant's opinion, which seemed sensible to the witness at the time and does now.

Several questions were asked by Counsel on both sides, the answers being favorable to the defendant. District Attorney Dyer was warned by Judge Tracy that he could not always ask the last question unless relevant. Donahue, clerk in a St. Louis Telegraph office, and Frank Avery, the Washington telegraph office, were called to prove that the sending and receipt of telegram by Gen. Babcock, Levi H. Lucky, the President's Private Secretary, was called to identify the hand writing of one Joyce, whose name was signed for the receipt for the telegram. Joyce is dead. Mr. Lucky, when asked where Joyce resided, replied: I hope he is in heaven. The witness could not identify the writing and was allowed to stand aside. Mr. Duff, manager of the Washington office of the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company was called to testify in the matter of telegrams. A number of other persons were called to identify the signatures and testify as to the disposition of the telegrams to and from General Babcock, including a colored steward attached to the Executive mansion, Gen. Babcock's colored steward, a watchman at the White House and others. Objections were made to the admission of all the telegrams except the Sylph dispatch, which the defense allowed to be admitted, waiving objections by mutual consent of counsel. The afternoon session will be occupied in arguments upon the admission of dispatches to and from Gen. Babcock, Acting Commissioner Douglas, Deputy Commissioner H. C. Rogers and all the employees of the Executive mansion are excused as witnesses. Judge Dillon withdrew his permission for juries to read the newspapers and the court took a recess until 3 o'clock.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Good water is abundant at an average depth of six feet from the surface. On almost every acre of land there is a stream or brook, and the water can be impeded by the water of the Santa Ana river. Most of these lands are naturally moist, requiring only good cultivation to produce a good crop.

TERMS—One-fourth Cash; balance in two and three years, with 10 per cent interest.

I will take pleasure in showing these lands to parties seeking land, who are invited to come and see this extensive tract before purchasing elsewhere.
